

STAND is proud to host our:

Midwest Regional Conference

February 19, 2017 @ the University of Chicago!

The event will include a virtual reality film about the Rohingya, Muslim minority ethnic group persecuted in Burma, as well as Salam Neighbor, a documentary about the experience of Syrian refugees living in Jordan's Za'atari refugee camp.

The event will feature panel discussions led by a number of professionals and activists, including the creators of the Rohingya, a virtual reality film, Call Us Rohingya, from the Nexus Fund, as well as Syrian activists here in Chicago representing Students Organize for Syria and Books Not Bombs.

The event will provide free lunch, opportunities to speak to other students, activists, and professionals passionate about human rights and preventing mass-atrocities, and opportunities to take action on these pressing issues!

We would love to see you all at the conference!
